REGISTRY SCHEME FOR GRADE CATTLE

Richland Center Man Perfects System as Boom to Dairy Industry.

A registry certificate for grade cows of a certain high standard is the latest contribution to the dairy industry. Harry Bailey, Richland Center, has after many years of study and consultation with prominent breeders of both grades and pure breeds, perfected a system of registry for the grade cow.

Early study brought out the fact that granting one-half of the pure bred calves born would be bulls, only 2 1/2 per cent of these bulls could be used by the pure bred herds. This gave evidence to the value of the grade male calf for the pure bred male calf.

The Standard Bred Cattle Club of America in its promotion of the pure bred sire becomes a move most vital to this great dairy industry in Wisconsin. The plan also embodies the promotion of new testing association work in that no animals can be registered unless they have first records above the specified standards; a minimum of 40 points of fat in 30 days. All animals entered in the Standard Bred Cattle club must be sired by a pure bred bull. No males are ever registered. For this reason pure bred bulls which may be sold to head grade herds may be tried out and any progeny may be studied as a guide to the advisability of this bull being used on a pure bred herd. In too many instances a bull is in the hands of the butcher when it is found out that his progeny are exceeding in production or type. Encouraging the registration of animals out of registered bulls will mean that these bulls will be kept in service in the grade herds and not turned off as footsies at the breeding season is over. The encouragement to use better bulls will be evident when there is a possibility of registration of his progeny.

Rock County Is Good for Poultry Raising--Lackie

At the monthly meeting of the Rock County Poultry association held at the court house last Wednesday afternoon, H. M. Lackie, who has charge of poultry and egg marketing at the department of markets, gave a very interesting talk.

Mr. Lackie stated that the poultry industry of the United States has been radically changed in the last few years by four new methods. 1, raising chickens in colony broods; 2, the baby chick industry; 3, the culling of flocks; 4, cold storage of eggs.

He stated that the marketing conditions could not be changed in a short time as they had reached the present status through many years of development. Ten million cases of eggs were put in storage this spring. These eggs will supply the trade during the period of low production.

According to Mr. Lackie, Wisconsin is an ideal location for producing eggs of superior quality. It has not the extreme warm climate of the southern states and the frosts will produce eggs during the winter. Another reason is that we are close to good markets and have excellent transportation.

Mr. Lackie believes that the flocks should be culled as soon as possible and the unprofitable hens disposed of at once. He stated that they were much higher in price now than they would be later on and should be marketed before July 2.

In the discussion on marketing broilers, it was brought out that 2 1/2 to 3 round broilers are selling readily at a very fancy price at this time of the year.

A motion was passed to hold the first annual fair of the Rock County Poultry association on Wednesday, July 2. At this time the poultry men will visit some of the leading poultry farms in the county. It is planned to have a chicken culling demonstration and other valuable demonstrations on this trip. A committee consisting of C. P. West, D. B. Wilkie, and R. T. Glasco will have charge of the tour.

There will be no more meetings of the association during June, July and August.

MAKE PLANS FOR NATIONAL DAIRY EXPO

Madison—Wisconsin's agricultural co-operative organizations are going to center in a co-operative council. The purpose of this council will be to bring together representatives from all the federated co-operative marketing organizations in the state together with representatives of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, the state department of agriculture, and the state department of markets. In fact, every effort will be made to get together all of the best information on the subject of marketing and make it available to all of the groups throughout the state. The council is to act in a purely advisory capacity.

It is expected that among other organizations represented in the council there will be the Northern Wisconsin Co-operative Food, Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation, Wisconsin Foreign Cheese Producers' association, Wisconsin Co-operative creameries association, Dairy Co-operative Livestock association, Door County Fruit Growers' Union, Madison Milk Producers' association, Middleton Milk Producers' association, Milwaukee Milk Producers' association, Watertown Milk Producers' association, and the Wisconsin dairymen's sales company.

The first regular meeting of the co-operative council has been called by J. D. Jones, state commissioner of agriculture, for May 23 at the state capital in Madison.

RAIL UNIONS BOLT LA FOLLETTE MEET AT STATE CAPITAL

Madison—The union, was elected permanent chairman of the state conference; Glenn P. Turner, Madison, secretary, and Mrs. E. C. Hoeber, Madison, treasurer. An executive committee of 30 members also was selected, as follows: John Doerflinger, Milwaukee; Harley Nickerson, Milwaukee; Ada L. James, Richland Center; N. G. Peterson, Port Washington; C. M. Grimm, Port Washington; Mrs. Ed. Schmidt, Gays Mills; Mrs. E. C. Hoeber, Madison; A. C. Ochsmann, Plain; Emil Pladen, Appleton; John Kaufman, Milwaukee; Mrs. Charles Ebert, Madison; J. A. Badway, Milwaukee; B. T. Melius, Milwaukee; Mrs. Louis Kuhnberg, Madison; G. R. Milbrink, La Crosse; Sol Isaacson, Madison; James Vennits, Stevens Point; Fred Kanneberg, Wausau; E. J. Brockman, Portage; Mrs. Paul Neltzel, Janesville; Mrs. J. H. Sticksen, Milwaukee; representing labor, and John D. Doerflinger Jr., representing political organizations. Miss Ada L. James, Richland Center, was named to go to the St. Paul convention.

The break came shortly after the conference was called to order by Mr. Nicholson, P. P. Lawton, Portage, spokesman for the railroad brotherhood, asked for the floor immediately after Chester C. Platt, secretary of the Wisconsin Nonpartisan league, moved that a permanent organization be formed. Lawton was ruled out of order. The action of the chairman in ruling him out of order brought the charge from Mr. Lawton that "stunt tactics" were being used by the chair, and he announced that the representatives of the five unions would withdraw from the meeting.

The most important of the resolutions adopted was the one favoring the formation of a new national party at Cleveland which was worded as follows:

"Resolved, that the Wisconsin conference for progressive political action assembled this 18th day of May 1924 in the city of Madison favors the formation of a new national party founded upon these groups which will meet at Cleveland July 2 and independent of both old and political parties for the interests of wage earners and farmers, democracy in government and industry in general.

"Resolved, further that such a party be to direct paying organization thereby ensuring responsibility to and by its members and assuring the faithful adherence to platform policies.

"Resolved, that the delegates of the conference to the national conference to be held in the city of Cleveland July 2 be and are hereby instructed to do all in their power in furtherance of the ideas expressed in the foregoing part of the resolution."

Although not mentioned in the resolutions adopted Mr. Platt drew applause from the delegates when he mentioned the name of Senator Robert M. La Follette as the leader of the proposed new party.

After an executive session of more than three hours, the labor representatives who withdrew from the conference passed resolutions explaining their stand.

"We have unimpeachable evidence of the fact that the committee in charge of sending out the list of credentials to the various progressive forces of the state failed to reach many of the members of our respective organizations as a result of which these members were practically without representation," the resolutions declared.

"Our attempt to explain the absence of these representatives of our organizations and the request for postponement of permanent organization until such time as we could be properly represented, were defeated by a ruling of the chair which resulted in depriving us of the right to explain the position in which we found ourselves."

The committee further declared that "our action does not indicate any change in our attitude towards that great champion of the progressive cause, the state and nation. We hereby emphasize the fact that the transportation brotherhoods are united in their loyalty to our senior senator, Robert M. La Follette."

Future plans for the organization are expected to be outlined in the near future. Whether an effort will be made to bring the labor unions, which withdrew, into the party was undetermined late last night. Leaders of the withdrawing faction declared that if representation methods could be worked out, some compromise plan might be brought about.

MOOSE IN FROLIC AT FORT ATKINSON

Initiate Class of 31 in Second Degree—250 At Banquet.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Fort Atkinson—Three hundred and fifty members of the Loyal Order of the Moose from Deloit, Janesville, Monroe, Evansville, Madison and Stoughton, attended the quarterly trade of Forward Lodge No. 14 here Sunday, being the guests of the Fort Atkinson lodge. Others present were from Milwaukee and Chicago.

Initiation of the E. J. Miller class of 31 candidates into the second degree was the feature of the meeting. This was held in the afternoon after a business session which opened the meeting at Eagles hall. The Madison degree staff conducted the dramatic work and exemplified the teachings of the degree.

Personnel of class. Those in the class were former Mayor William H. Weld, Clifford Huppert, Angel Harbo, Frank Carney, Clarence Steinke, L. C. Brandel, John L. Roddy, Otto Heese, Alvin Brown, Edward Dornbusch, Robert J. Roberts, O. T. Olson, J. C. Canedy, Louis Lohmann, Edward Carls, John C. Roberts, Rexford Steff, Jacob B. Blum and Matt Blah, Monticello; Paul J. Loehner, Charles A. Case, W. H. Miller, Michael O'Toole, John O'Toole, Edward E. Hillebrand, Arthur T. Laid, Madison; Lewis Clawson, Stoughton; John Vasey and Anton Bredek, Deloit.

Mayor was served the Moose at 5:30 p. m. at the Friedman restaurant church by the women of the church. Cameron W. Doherty, Fort Atkinson, was toastmaster. The Rev. Joseph Moroney, Deloit, officiated and Mayor E. H. Miles welcomed the visitors. George H. Rankin made the principal address, making a fine speech on fraternalism and its application to the every day needs of life.

Next Frolic at Monroe. Judge Patrick Kelly, director of Chicago lodges; Norton J. Williams, Madison, state president; William P. Tammhauser, director of Milwaukee lodge; the Rev. J. S. Morris, the Rev. W. A. DeLong and former Mayor Weld were others who spoke. Owing to the lateness of the hour the baroque entertainment was not given. The next frolic will be held at Monroe, probably the latter part of August.

MRS. CLERGYMAN TO ATTEND MEETINGS AT MADISON CONFERENCE. Madison—The better halves of the rural clergy are going to have meetings of their own when they accompany their husbands to the third annual Rural Church conference here, June 30 to July 1.

Under the leadership of Nellie Kedzie Jones, state leader of home economics extension, a program is being planned for all of the clergymen's wives, women church and social workers, and librarians.

Among the subjects to be discussed will be nutrition in the home as it affects children, youth and adults, with food demonstration; house management, including labor-saving devices and methods; with demonstrations; labor saving methods, accompanied by clothing demonstrations; and art in the home, with special reference to the religious training of the child.

The object of the whole course will be to help the wives of clergymen and the other church women to become better fitted for the duties that they are called upon to perform in the rural parish.

He has been an active member of the Delavan lodge for the entire period of his membership in the order.

WOOL GROWERS TO POOL AT WAUKESHA

Madison—Wisconsin wool growers will pool their product at Waukesha this year.

At a recent meeting here of the directors of the Wisconsin Pile Wool Growers' association, including George McKerrrow and Monte Thompson, Waukesha county, and William P. Rank and M. P. Hogan, Dane county, and at which G. C. Humphrey and Frank Kiehm of the Wisconsin college of agriculture were present, it was decided to incorporate as a co-operative organization to pool Wisconsin wool.

By the terms of the contract the wool growers will store, sack, insure, and grade all wool received, keep all records and accounts, sell the wool to the best advantage, and make final settlements subject to the approval of the directors of the association. This service will cost the wool grower 2 1/2 cents a pound. The association will furnish sacks to the growers, charges being made only for sacks not returned.

The growers will pay freight and drayage charges on less than carload lots, and freight and unloading charges on carload lots. Brokers will receive all wool, pay the freight and drayage charges on all consignments, take receipts for the same, and deduct these charges from the amount received for each consignment when final settlement is made.

Wool will be received at Waukesha beginning June 1 and continuing throughout the month. The association is urging the wool growers of the state to get in touch with their county agents, secretaries of farm bureau federations, or others with the object of shipping individual consignments in car lots. This will reduce freight and drayage costs.

Wool growers in Dane county are assured of shipping at least one carload in this way. Further information in regard to shipping directions may be obtained by writing to George McKerrrow, secretary, Waukesha.

CELEBRATION AT PALMYRA IN JUNE

Will Dedicate Drug Clerks' Home at Annual Convention of Body.

Palmyra—The annual convention of the National Association of Drug Clerks, in Palmyra, June 17-19, will be held on the occasion for the formal dedication of the P. A. Mandabach Memorial Drugists' National Home, established in the 100-room four story brick building formerly used as a sanatorium.

This event upon the 14th anniversary of the founding of the national drug clerks association by Mr. Mandabach in whose memory the home is named, will be held simultaneously with the gathering here of the Wisconsin Old Settlers association for an annual reunion. It is expected to draw the largest crowd in the history of Palmyra.

A drug show is to be held in connection with the drugists' convention, and funds raised by this and that accruing from all other sources will go towards the $300,000 P. A. Mandabach Memorial Drugists' National Home. Endeavoring to insure the perpetuity of the home.

Three day program. A three day program has been prepared, opening Tuesday, June 17, and continuing through June 19, on which day the dedication of the home will be held, and officers elected.

Present officers are: Arthur M. Truitt, Charleston, W. Va., president; Otto E. Bruder, Palmyra, first vice president; Carl J. Nasloup, Seely, Tex., second vice president; Albert A. Padula, St. Joseph, Mo., third vice president; Angelo Cassetti, Rochester, N. Y., fourth vice president; Paul J. Mandabach, Chicago, Ill., secretary-treasurer; and A. Cavanaugh, Chicago, counsel-at-law.

Fifty acres of land part way around the shores of Spring Lake, over which the association exercises a life lease, have been purchased with the building. The property encloses the western and southern portion of the lake. It is thickly wooded with native oaks, maples, black cherry and locust trees. Four acres around the building and eight acres additional comprise the Mineral Spring Park where six of the founders of their kind in the world, are found.

Founded in 1910. It will make an ideal location for the generalists home which will be a charitable institution for the old, infirm or infirm drugists, drug clerks, and drug salesmen, who for any reason are unable to support themselves.

The national association of drug clerks was founded in June 1910 by Peter A. Mandabach, father of the present secretary-treasurer of the organization. The association now has a membership of 7,000. Mr. Mandabach held the office of secretary-treasurer until his death July 6, 1921, at which time his son succeeded to the office. He is now in Palmyra superintending the extensive improvements of the home and making it ready for the national convention.

21 NEW TEACHERS FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Comparatively Small Number
Will Fill Vacancies in Faculty Ranks.

Because of the few resigning, an unusually small number of new teachers will fill vacancies in the Janesville school system when the new term opens next fall. Twenty-one names were announced by the superintendent of schools, F. O.
Holt, Monday, to take the places of those leaving. Many of them, though finishing college or university work this year, have had previous experience in teaching, and will be a strengthening factor in the staff.

New grade school teachers will be Miss Grace Spoon, now teaching at Marshalltown, Ia.; Miss Della Pen-ber, teaching at Evansville, Ind.;
Estrey Christensen, Oshkosh Normal school; Miss Vivian Leitch, Milwaukee Normal; Miss Norma Bolton,
Milwaukee Normal; Miss Irene
Chant, teaching at Kenosha; Miss Joyce Crawford, Milwaukee Normal; Miss Marjorie Birkenmeyer,
LaCrosse Normal; Miss Mildred
Nantz, Whitewater Normal.

Most of the vacancies in the high school staff have also been filled, and among the new teachers will be Miss Phillips Arman, Beloit college; Walter W. White, Indiana;
Miss Louise Gohardt, University of Wisconsin; Lucille Campbell, El Paso, Ill.; Miss Margaret Davis,
University of Minnesota; J. W.
Wiseman, University of Wisconsin;
Miss Dorothy White, Rockford college; Miss Katherine Morgan, University of Chicago; Miss Lillian Tele, University of Wisconsin;
Miss Ruth Markham, Marion, Kan.; and George Machelson, Lawrence college.

Miss Isabel Kramert, University of Wisconsin, will succeed Miss Martha Gowan as art supervisor.

Reynolds Olson, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlson, 509 Hoyt street, accompanied his aunt, Mrs. G.
H. Reynolds, to her home in Minneapolis last week to spend his vacation at the Reynolds summer home at Orchard Beach, Lake Minnetonka.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Corson, 227
North Terrace street, will visit Milwaukee and Chicago relatives and friends
this week.

James F. Healey, Jr., and Miss Ruby Brusseau, Milwaukee, were guests of the Corson family on Sunday.

T. P. Burns, 202 Center avenue, is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corson, Platteville, were guests last week of his mother, Mrs. George Corson, 227
North Terrace street.

Mrs. George Thomas, Michaelis apartments, is home after spending some time in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. George Turk, Vista avenue, have returned from California where they spent the past seven months. They made their headquarters at Long Beach, from there visiting the various resorts in the state. They are spending several days at the Edward Parker home, route 2 before opening their home
on Vista avenue.

Mrs. Donald B. Kest, Kansas
City, Mo., returned to her home
Saturday after several weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P.
McKendrick, 703 St. Lawrence avenue.

Miss Carlo, 605 St. Lawrence avenue, returned to Milwaukee Friday for a few days' visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Corson and daughter, Evanston, Ill., are visiting his mother, Mrs. George Corson, 227
North Terrace street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Russell and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jumps, spent Sunday in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loecker, 1525
Racine street, entertained Frank
Turk and James O'Keefe, Chicago,
Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Metcalf, 504
North Washington street, and Miss Grace Amerphol, 115 Clark street, motored to Chicago, Saturday, Dr.
and Mrs. Metcalf visited relatives at Deerfield, while Miss Amerphol spent Sunday with Chicago friends.

M'ADOO BACKERS FULL OF OPTIMISM

Doubt Wholly Absent Within Camp of California; Oil Ignored.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924, by the Janesville Gazette—Special Correspondence to the Janesville Gazette.

New York—William Gibbs McAdoo has come to town at just the psychological moment. There are conferees now among democratic leaders which may influence the whole trend of events at the national convention six weeks hence. Mr. McAdoo and his associates are confident of the outcome. They neither look doubtful nor that way. Arrangements are being made for the convention itself—that is what the democrats are confident of. They are confident of the outcome. They neither look doubtful nor that way. Arrangements are being made for the convention itself—that is what the democrats are confident of.

has brought several national committees here—but the undercurrent of conversation is not who shall be temporary or permanent chairman. It is the strategy of the convention will be.

The McAdoo men are sure of more than 400 votes on the first ballot. They say they have more votes in store on subsequent ballots. If they get a majority, they believe the whole convention will swing toward them and furnish the necessary two-thirds. On what is all this confidence based? You can't talk five minutes with any of the McAdoo men before learning that they are absolutely convinced that the dragging in of McAdoo names in the oil controversy has been a boomerang; that it is the kind of thing which republicans will think harmful but which the democratic party will not. For, in the first place, Mr. McAdoo feels that he has done nothing wrong, that nobody has accused him of any legal wrongdoing and that his activity as a lawyer after he left the treasury department is no different from the activity of Charles Evans Hughes after he left the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Hughes, it is pointed out, accused before his former associates and was highly paid for his services.

"Old Stuff" is oil. That the McAdoo men say the oil discussion is "old stuff" and that the people in several states primaries have passed on it and given McAdoo their support.

Far more different at the moment is the course that the McAdoo generals are taking in mapping out their campaign for the election, which is the first hurdle to be crossed. The McAdoo men point significantly to the statement by Senator LaFollette that he would run independent if both parties name a conservative.

LaFollette or McAdoo. The inference which the McAdoo strategists draw from this is that he may not run if a radical or liberal democrat is nominated. Anyway, the whole basis of the McAdoo campaign is that there must be a difference between the two candidates and the parties in the forthcoming contest, that the west and south can be counted upon to support a liberal and progressive while the east will naturally vote to a large extent for a conservative.

Former Secretary McAdoo's speeches in the west are exactly in line with that doctrine. While he himself would probably say that to describe his doctrines as radical is erroneous because he thinks a radical is essentially an extremist, nevertheless the utterances are not in the least conservative. For instance, he has been advocating the repeal of the much-mooted section 15A of the transportation act which limits the earnings of the railroads, he has been favoring the repeal of the labor clauses so that the present labor board may be abolished. He has also been talking in favor of a cash bonus while the present soldier insurance bill does not appropriate money for that immediate purpose.

At Smith, Conservative? Whether the McAdoo men make of Al Smith a conservative by declaring Tammany is far from progressive remains to be seen. But the fight appears to be developing largely between the McAdoo and Smith forces, with all sorts of rumors floating around just now that at the psychological moment both the Underwood and a strength will be thrown to Smith rather than McAdoo in order to head off the latter's nomination. The pre-convention efforts to persuade influential men behind the scenes to cast their support into the camp of William Gibbs McAdoo are becoming intensified. There was a time when the skeptics thought him eliminated on account of the oil dispute. He has now carved several primaries and has come here to ask the doubtful ones what they think about that and to persuade them to climb his band wagon. For McAdoo is one of the chief strategists of his own campaign.

NOTICE TO F. O. E. CANDIDATES
Dr. Farnsworth will be in his office every night at 7 to 9, for examinations. Also the secretary will be in his office, 215 Hayes Block, at the same hours, so that you can complete your initiation. Make an effort to be examined at once.

Initiation will be Sunday afternoon, May 25th.

TARIFF ASKED FOR COPPER

Washington—A six cents per pound tariff would be placed on all forms of copper under a bill proposed today by Representative James McMillan of Michigan. Such protection, he asserted, should be given to enable copper mines to pay a living wage and to give back to mine owners a "small part of their investment."

Sixth Welfare Clinic Scheduled

The sixth child welfare clinic conducted by the city health department will be held in the city hall from 10 a. m. to 12 m. Wednesday, with the usual staff of physicians and nurses in charge. Thirty-five children were examined at the last clinic, May 7. The clinic is open to the general public, without charge.

"We want the public to know that the clinic and other activities of the health department are for everyone, that our work is not a charity project," said Dr. F. E. Welch, city health officer.

Arrangements are being made by the city nurses of Janesville for a luncheon and conference of public health nurses of this district here next Saturday. Twenty are expected to attend. The luncheon will be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 1 p. m.

AMERICAN PLANES SAIL DOWN GROUP OF JAP ISLANDS

was a disappointment. Snow fell from time to time, and a biting wind blew continuously. The air men rested, and in the evening were entertained aboard a Japanese destroyer Tokitaka, which had come here to meet them.

The early dawn—in this latitude, it comes here before 2 o'clock—found the fliers astir. The planes were fueled; the engines were tuned. The low hanging fog threatened to make necessary another postponement, but from the U. S. S. Pope, at Hilo, Hawaii, and from the Japanese destroyers Tokitaka and Amatsukaze several days ago, when it was determined that Hilo, Hawaii, was too rough for the planes to be brought down safely on its waters.

The air cruiser New Orleans took the air at 7:35 a. m., quickly followed by the Boston and the Chicago in order.

The take-off was easy. The airplanes circled about over head, the flag plane Chicago took the lead, and all three disappeared in the morning haze.

The landing was made on Lake Teshikoye. This is in the rear of Hilo, Hawaii, an indentation on the southeast shore of the island. A landing place on the lake had been prepared by Japanese and American sailors from the destroyers Pope and Amatsukaze several days ago, when it was determined that Hilo, Hawaii, was too rough for the planes to be brought down safely on its waters.

Boys were placed in the lake and arrangements made for the fliers to reach the shore. This was the third landing place, open for the fliers at the end of this safe of their journey, the first, Bottom Anchorage, on the northwestern coast of this island, having been abandoned in favor of Hilo, Hawaii, lay some weeks since because of ice there.

BUILDING INCREASE NOTED IN STATE

April building contracts in Wisconsin amounted to $9,264,200, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. This was an increase of 30 per cent over March, and a decrease of only 1 per cent from April of last year.

Included in last month's record were: $3,535,800, or 39 per cent, for residential buildings; 2,465,400, or 27 per cent, for public works and utilities; $822,000, or 8 per cent, for commercial buildings; and $867,000, or 9 per cent, for industrial buildings.

Total Wisconsin building contracts for the first four months of this year have amounted to $23,065,200, a decrease of 9 per cent from the corresponding period of last year.

FIND MESSAGE OF LOST DRIGIBLE

Ajaccio, Corsica—A message found in a bottle washed on the Corsican coast, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" was a drift; wind like a tempest; Dismude's crew; Adeu and Vive La France" was believed to be the last message from the ill-fated airship lost in the Mediterranean last December.

Miss Bernice Hovis, Cherry street, is at St. Mary's hospital, where she underwent an operation several days ago.

TAG DAY WORKERS, DONORS, THANKED

Children's Home Society Money Raising Scheme Here Considered Success.

In behalf of the Children's Home Society of Wisconsin, Mrs. Adelaide Rockwood, Milwaukee, and the Rev. A. H. Zechel, Madison, issued a statement at the close of the society's tag day Saturday expressing their gratitude for the support by contributors of money and to the women and boy scouts for their services in selling tags and getting contributions.

"We regard the day as one of success, especially considering the fact that our decorations for the workers and other materials failed to arrive in Janesville in time for service," said the Rev. Mr. Zechel, assistant district superintendent.

"We are certain that citizens of Janesville will have more to say about the society in the future and will know us better. The more we are known the better we are supported and patronized."

Mr. Zechel will call on many of the regular financial contributors in Janesville the next two days so they may not be lost from the literature list.

The tag day effort was made a

WRECKED STEAMER IS CUT IN TWO

Superior—The steamer Hoover and Mason, which lay beached for more than 24 hours at the east end of dock number 1, Great Northern Ore docks, with a lance hole in her side as a result of being rammed Saturday by the freighter Justice of Cleveland, buckled amidship Sunday and sank an additional 10 feet in the center. It was necessary to cut the boat in two to bring it to the dry dock.

The Hesitating Socialists in France

There is no little problem among the socialist winners of the elections in France as to the right thing to do and the action they must take. It must not be overlooked that, while the policy of Poincare and Millerand has been overwhelmingly defeated and a new alignment will be made in governmental action especially referring to Germany, the socialist members are almost as strong for France in her policy of aggression and defense against the neighbor, as was Poincare. They may halt at the Ruhr occupation and the plan which was definitely Poincare's, of making a neutral strip along the Rhine for a buffer state, but they will be none the less insistent on the payment of the reparations and other penalties under the Versailles treaty.

The French socialists find themselves much in the same situation that England did when it elected a Labor government. The Labor party there, like the successful wings in France, is made up of diverse and sundry persons with views representing all grades and degrees from the very radical red to the calm, business-like approach to public questions characteristic of Premier Ramsay MacDonald. It will be a change at least to have a premier in France of the MacDonald class. Where France has her difficulty is in securing an agreement between the widely diverging wings of the parties who hold power against the present government and, who are agreed only when making a frontal attack on Poincare. Else they are separated and fighting among themselves. Longuit can never agree upon a policy that would please Heriot or Briand, and so on. The weakness is apparent. There are hot heads who will refuse to participate in any government because they would be out of a regular occupation of attacking someone and something constantly.

Your French socialist is a theorist of the very most advanced kind. He wants a socialistic government or none at all. The foundations of the present house being all wrong he refuses to become a tenant in it for any time, no matter how short. What he wants is for France to dig out the cellar and throw away the whole thing and establish as near a bolshevist and soviet government, as the more delicate French method of treatment might soften and change the brutal and crude Russian policy.

There will, however, be no revolution at this time. Whenever one gets to the point of thinking that something very radical is going to be done, it turns out that all the soldiers want to be generals or that each leader and member has a theory quite his own which he refuses to relinquish. So we may look for a short lease of life of the new government after Poincare steps down and out of the foreground.

About the heaviest tax congress has laid is on American patience and endurance.

Booze and Bribery.

Revelations by Remus, the bootlegger king, now serving a sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary for violation of the laws of the United States, in reference to bribery, comes as about the first statement that cash was paid to any one closely connected with the office of Attorney General Daugherty. We have had hearsay evidence, conjecture, guesses and plenty of innuendo, but no statement from any of the victims that money was actually paid to any person who could be traced.

It is possible that Jesse Smith lied about the influence he had and that he was working with the gang of highway robbers and blackmailers entirely outside officialdom. Involved in this manner, he committed suicide.

The Remus testimony brings again into sharp emphasis the political aspect of the enforcement of the prohibition laws. The Gazette reiterated that it has been a disgrace and generally rotten because it started with politics and has been maintained as a political institution. That applies to the democratic administration, under which it began operations, and the republican administration which has followed. Add to this the refusal of otherwise decent people to observe the law and we have millions like Remus who made money by illicit trafficking and attempted to save himself by bribery.

Evidently Jesse Smith was lying about his ability to deliver the goods of immunity after he received the money, as Remus testifies he paid him. Since Remus is serving a sentence in the penitentiary. And there is no evidence in the Remus testimony that a dollar got beyond Smith's bank account.

And Mr. Remus thinks he has paid for too great a price for his bootlegging operations. When he began he was a poor, little known lawyer of Cincinnati. When he went to the penitentiary he had made a million dollars. And he said on the stand that the term he was serving was too high a price to pay for it; that he had rather be free and poor, than rich and serve the sentence.

There will be no cessation of drunken drivers off the streets until all of them are locked in jail for the offense.

In 1861 Abraham Lincoln received all the votes of the national convention but 22 which went to Gen. Grant. It looks now as though Coolidge would receive all but 25 which will go to La.

The Patrimony of Humanity

By FREDERIC J. HANKIN.

Washington.—Pastor, the great French scientist, in addressing an international congress in Italy, said that "science has no nationality because knowledge is the patrimony of humanity, the torch which gives light to the world."

In this annual review of the work of the Rockefeller Foundation during the year 1923, President George B. Vincent tells an interesting story of what the foundation is doing to add to "the patrimony of humanity." By promoting the migration of scientists and administrators, he says, by helping to diffuse more rapidly new ideas, by strengthening world centers of teaching and research, in short by fostering medical science and public health as forms of international cooperation, the Rockefeller Foundation seeks to fulfill the purpose of its charter, "the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

In the varied activities the foundation expended during the year approximately $8,500,000. Of the total amount, $3,174,268 were expended in public health work, the largest item being $1,457,456 for the regular program of the International Board of Health in control of hookworm, malaria, and yellow fever, and in county health and laboratory service. The school of public health at Harvard University received $415,750.

Almost $5,000,000 was devoted to medical education, $1,354,592 going to the China Medical Board, $1,356,592 to the Canadian Medical Program, $624,172 to the London Medical Center and $1,155,322 to the University of Chicago. Miscellaneous expenditures amounted to $155,928, the greater part of that going to the National Research Council. The income of the foundation for the year ending from investments was nearly $9,000,000. The foundation now has $155,201,624 in its principal funds and owns lands, buildings and equipment to the value of $8,463,816.

In enumerating the many things that this organization accomplished in a year, Dr. Vincent lists first the supplying of fellowship funds for 63 individuals in 29 different countries, the support through the League of Nations of intercalary institutions for 54 public health officers from 27 nations and the arranging of international visits of one commission and of 24 visiting professors.

There are thousands of investigators in university and industrial laboratories, botanical and zoological gardens, agricultural experiment stations, hospitals and research institutes of many kinds in almost all the countries of the world who are adding constantly to humanity's common fund of knowledge. To keep these workers connected with their common task, says Dr. Vincent, to recruit young men and women and to train them for productive work, to make sure that each investigator has an opportunity to know what others are doing in his special field, to put new knowledge at the service of the whole world as soon as may be, are the aims of modern science conceived of as a vast team-work of the nations. The foundation's contribution in this direction was in promoting international migration. Of the 636 fellowships provided, 213 were for visiting fellows who studied in 15 different countries. The resident fellows were 424 in Germany, 138 in the United States, 79 in China, 5 in Canada, 3 in Brazil, 3 in Poland, and 1 in Yugoslavia.

Of these fellowships the International Health Board granted 130 including staff members on study leave, the Division of Medical Education granted 51, the China Medical Board 135, the National Research Council 113, the British Medical Research Council 4, and other agencies, 9.

Dr. Vincent tells of one of the young men who received a fellowship that enabled him to pursue his studies and research work in the United States. He had received a medical degree from a leading university of his country and had had successful experience in both administrative and teaching positions in public health work.

When he arrived in the harbor of New York the United States immigration officials, who had been notified in advance, made his admission a prompt and courteous formality. The program of work that was laid down for him included practical experience with three state boards of health, and county health organizations, and the United States Public Health Service, as well as a systematic course of study in the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

Upon his return to his own country this doctor received an appointment in the public health service. His work soon attracted attention and led to promotion to a more responsible position. Under the auspices of the League of Nations, international institutions of health officials were established, the first being held in London early in 1923. Representatives were in attendance from Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Korea, Poland, Rumania, Russia, Sweden, the United States, and Yugoslavia. Later in the year 25 delegates, representing 18 countries, assembled in the United States. Four of the countries represented are not members of the League of Nations—the United States, Mexico, Russia, and Germany.

Still other migrations of scientific men took place under the auspices of the Rockefeller Foundation during the year. Twenty-four specialists in medicine, public health, or physical science, visited other countries than their own as guests of the Division of Medical Education, the National Research Council and the International Health Board. A commission of six distinguished Japanese scientists made an extended tour of the chief medical centers of this country.

"If the scientific patrimony of humanity is to be protected and enlarged," says Dr. Vincent, "there must be no break in the continuity of investigators and teachers. The leaders of today must train and inspire the younger students who will take over the responsibility for conservation and progress in the future. Because science is a world product and a heritage of all the nations, an interruption in the scientific succession of any leading country is of concern everywhere."

The directors of the foundation found, for example, that young doctors and other scientific workers in Germany and other central European countries were unable to carry on their experimental and research work because they did not have the money with which to purchase their laboratory supplies and experimental animals. The foundation promptly created resident fellowships for a large number of these scientists in order that their work might go forward for the benefit of the whole world.

The foundation does not act favorably upon all applications for aid that are made to it. It declines to make gifts or loans to individuals to contribute to the building or maintenance of churches, hospitals, except in connection with educational programs, and other local institutions, or to support campaigns to influence public opinion on social or political questions.

Polio. There the parallel between the voting cases.

A prohibition agent got drunk in the Bronx and that is another reason for the repeal of the prohibition laws.

Bishop Paul Rhode of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay answered any argument of Nicholas Murray Butler, when he said in a public meeting Tuesday, "If one half the efforts to discredit the Volstead act were directed to the work of promoting respect for it and for all law, a different story would certainly have to be written in regard to its operation."

President Coolidge has been to a circus. No, Indiana. It was not at the capital but under a tent.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

MAY
Here's May in the world.
With her petals of pink
And her skies just as bright
As a baby's first smile.
And the trees newly green
In the loveliest green,
And young life where the scars
Of old winter have been!

Here's May once again!
With her orchards in bloom,
Like a bride at the altar
Arrayed for the groom:
There's a wreath in her hair,
And her bridal bouquet
Scatters beauty afar
As she flings it away.

Here's May! The same May
Which thrilled men of the past.
As she was long ago,
She shall be to the last.
And though over the world
Countless ages have rolled,
May, like a child at heart,
And never grown old.

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1924.

Jupiter and Neptune are in benefic aspect during the morning hours of this day, according to astrology. Uranus and Mars are adverse. Saturn is friendly in the hours near noon.

There is a good deal of business or professional activity that requires foresight and real faith for success.

The seeds foretell many new fortunes that come from unexpected opportunities, but there will be many who lose their wealth.

Again the earth and production and appear to presage new discoveries of great value.

This should be a most fortunate date for beginning ocean voyages.

Under the ruling rule the mental faculties may be subject to strain and for that reason the nerves should be safeguarded from extra demands upon them.

Mars is in a threatening aspect today making for dissensions in which nations as well as individuals may become involved.

The rule is not a fortunate one for domestic peace and a decided increase in divorce cases may be expected at the end of the summer.

The aged should benefit from the kindly way of the stars today and charity and cheerfulness may be evident as the hours advance.

There is a promising sign for labor, especially for all branches of building operations.

Farmers may look for improved conditions and higher prices which will offset recent losses on vegetable and stock.

Saturn is in an aspect that betokens grave trouble for the king and the government of Great Britain.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a happy day. Prosperity appears to be assured with the fulfillment of many of the heart's desires.

Children born on this day probably will be restless of nature, but able to make their discontent a means of reaching the highest attainment. These subjects of Gemini usually are versatile and show evidence of dual natures.

When troubles beset us
It's time to forget.
For trouble is a medicine
By worry and fret.

When in need of a stimulant, a cool bath beats a cold bottle.

Insurance: What we could have had and didn't want; what we want and can't get.

It's the fruits of our dissipation that gets us into trouble—don't recall that Adam got into trouble, feeling with you.

Too often, retirement at forty means interment at fifty.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

Why do people yawn? asks a correspondent, who goes on to say: "I have yawned at times, and I feel that my throat is so stretched that it seems at times as though I will suffocate. It can't be lack of sleep, for I get more than enough sleep."

Oxygen index.
So the desire comes on when you are fatigued, when the room is over-heated or overcrowded and the air is so thick with carbon dioxide and more shadow from boredom or ennui.

Persons who feel faintly but experience great care and ingenuity about avoiding work, honest muscular exertion, suffer from a sort of chronic under oxygenation and are therefore unduly fond of yawning and unduly susceptible to the influence of example or imitation.

A spectator at the ball game is often constrained to yawn. Seldom, however, do you see a player yawning. He is getting the oxygen which the spectators, and not himself, probably ought to have. Exercise increases the absorption of oxygen in the body; watching other folks exercise will not do so. Excitement helps in absorbing in actual practice. The third business man—or woman—doesn't need an evening at the vaudeville hall as much as a few miles of oxygen on the brain. Fresh air, even from a sort of chronic under oxygenation, for anybody who will trouble to go out and help himself.

Some fine business men figure that if it's all they need they can get it by the very simple means of deep breathing—which says to show only how dulling to the mind under oxygenation.

Another thing that makes you yawn sometimes is plain hunger. At least a hearty meal seems to overcome the desire to yawn, even though it makes us droop. Good, like exercise, increases metabolism, makes the body absorb more oxygen, but only temporarily. The effect of a half hour of exercise is to absorb half an hour's worth of oxygen, but only half an hour's worth.

So that one would have to eat about 30 full meals a day in order to obtain the metabolic boost one gets from two meals.

Children like uncooked oats—the quick cook, finely chopped kind—with cream and sugar. Is there any harm in it? They are so good and so raw egg beaten with a spoonful of sugar in a glass of milk, but do not cure for coughed, colds, and asthma. Is it nourishing? (Mrs. W. J. E.)

Answer—No harm in eating the oats uncooked. No harm in the raw egg, but it is less completely digested than the hard-boiled egg would be, therefore less nourishing.

The Home Health Club.
What do you think of the Home Health Club and its remedies they advise? (T. A. W.)

Answer—A scheme with some such thing is described in the number of the magazine Hygiene.

What would you do with a child 12 years of age who is slightly bowlegged? (Mrs. T. E. C.)

Answer—A reliable corrective apparatus, applied and worn under the observation and direction of a physician. The orthopedic surgeon will generally straighten bowlegs in a child of that age.

Put this program out. It will not appear again.

Q. What makes hair naturally curly? R. E. B.

A. The contour of the hair is circular and flattened. Whether a hair is curly or straight is largely dependent upon its contour; the more oval or flattened it is the more it will be curly.

Q. How much money was there in the Marine hospital fund when the Marine stopped paying into it? L. G.

A. The Marine hospital fund, which has been in existence since 1884, was $1,258,814.87 at the close of the fiscal year of 1923. A new act provided that the money for the maintenance of marine hospitals should be paid out of the proceeds of the tonnage tax, and this tax was imposed on vessels from foreign ports entering the United States. The amount of the tonnage tax for 1923 was $1,754,807.52. This amount, which was held by the treasury department, was used for the maintenance of the hospitals.

Q. How many Japanese are there in California, in Hawaii, in Mexico, in the Philippines? L. G. C.

A. One of a total population of 1,258,814 in California, 1,252,000 in Hawaii, 1,252,000 in Mexico, 1,252,000 in the Philippines. The population in the Hawaiian Islands is 255,912 and Japanese are 10,350,610, of which 7,800 are Japanese.

Q. Why is a constitutional amendment necessary to change the date of the election of the president, vice president and members of congress? A. Y. P.

A. The constitution fixes the terms of president and vice president at four years, of senators at six years, and representatives at two years, and any change of this kind would affect the term of office of the incumbents. It is therefore necessary to amend the constitution to make the change.

Q. Should the thin paper membrane on the outside of lamb and mutton be removed before cooking? L. E. N.

A. The "cell" as this is called, should be removed. It absorbs the odors of the refrigerator, carries a woolly smell, and is tough. No seasoning will penetrate the meat if the cell is not removed.

Q. What is a second class postoffice have city and rural delivery? R. P. V.

A. A grade of a postoffice is determined by its gross receipts. The postoffice at Smackover, Ark., for instance, is an office of the second class, but has neither rural carriers nor city delivery.

ABE MARTIN

Home—John Hays Hammond, Jr., of London today to demonstrate to the British admiralty his latest device in radio transmission. He has entered into a contract with the admiralty for a number of transmitting and receiving sets on a new system, to be constructed in the United States.

This system permits of secrecy in radio transmission and enables each station to send more than one message simultaneously on the same wave length. Great utility in war time is claimed for it because it makes use of certain combinations of wave lengths which must be known before a message can be picked up.

In commercial use, it would permit broadcasting stations to charge a fee for listening in on their programs.

TOURISTS WARNED NOT TO CART AWAY DISEASED TREES

Madison.—A warning to tourists against digging up and carrying away trees from Wisconsin, which reached Wisconsin on imported trees from Europe, is fatal to the pine woods and state and federal governments have spent large sums in bringing moving the trees, as over a year's experience has been in effect prohibiting the moving of this tree as apparently healthy trees might result in the blight not being introduced into new localities.

"White pine especially is to be avoided for this reason," Dr. S. B. Frazer, state entomologist, declares. "The white pine blight, which reached Wisconsin on imported trees from Europe, is fatal to the pine woods and state and federal governments have spent large sums in bringing moving the trees, as over a year's experience has been in effect prohibiting the moving of this tree as apparently healthy trees might result in the blight not being introduced into new localities."

"A rare member of the kipsy moth family, known as the pine tussock moth, also is present in certain parts of Wisconsin woods, and this pest, if introduced into new localities, might result in serious losses."

Several of the most injurious and costly insect pests have been carried over the country through the transportation of trees, officials declare. The State Game and Forest Commission has issued a warning to tourists not to dig up or carry away trees from Wisconsin woods.

It is pointed out that state regulations require that before trees are transported to other sections, they should be inspected by the state department.

TODAY'S MARKET

Weekly Livestock Review

CATTLE.—Though the supply of cattle on Monday of last week was excessive, total receipts for the week were 7,500, more than 4,000 less than previous period. Moderate numbers after the opening day caused the market to improve gradually, until practically all of the early losses were regained. Demand for good yearlings was strong and the first week at 10.00, 11.50. Light receipts resulted in very active demand for cows and heifers, especially for good yearlings, which sold mostly between $8.50 and $10, with one sale at $11.00, top for the 2-year-olds. Bulls were in demand, slightly advanced. Calves were up 20 to 25 cents.

Quotations for the week ending May 18, 1924, and native beef cattle follow:

Booster Defeat Milton, 5-3, and Tie for First Place

Brodhead Victor on a Big Frame; Fort Wins, 6-0

Copyright 1920, by Geo. McManus.

Janesville and Brodhead teams are in a tie for first place in the Southern Wisconsin league. The Janesville team defeated Milton, 5-3, on Sunday. The Fort Madison team defeated Brodhead, 6-0, on Sunday.

Playing in all of Sunday's games was made difficult and at times nearly impossible because of a high and gusty wind that tore across the diamonds and was uncomformably chilly. It rained the night before and the games were played in between clouds of sand.

Despite the adverse weather conditions, 1,500 saw Sunday's contests. Janesville won the first game, 5-3, on Sunday. The Fort Madison team defeated Brodhead, 6-0, on Sunday.

Fairies in Big Split With Massillon Outfit

Beloit—The Fairies divided with Massillon here over the week-end in midwest league games. On Saturday, Beloit flamed out a 11 to 2 victory, but on Sunday, the Ohioans came back and won, 5 to 3.

The Fairies laid down a barrage of 16 hits on Saturday. Two of them were home runs, one by Steel in the sixth with one on and the other by Paul in the seventh with two on. York was sent to the showers under the avalanche.

On Sunday, Massillon concentrated their attack in the third, fourth and fifth. Beloit hit a four bagger in the fifth. Beloit came back in the sixth to knock Kinney off the Massillon mound, but it was not enough.

CARLE GETS A HOLE IN ONE

N. L. Carle, chairman of the grounds committee of the Janesville Country club, joined the hole in one club on Sunday when he made his ace in the number three hole. He was playing in a four-ball match with J. L. Wilcox, Jimmy Harris and Burns Brewer. The irony of the fact was that Mr. Wilcox, one of his opponents, had a two on the same hole, on which par is three. It is not often a hole is lost in two.

Four Are Hurt as Milton Wins from Red Sox

In one of the poorest exhibitions of baseball played on the Foxboro course, the Milton Legion Seconds mauled the Red Sox for a 10-1 win Sunday. There was plenty of hard hitting and poor fielding.

Practically every player binged a two-bagger during the contest. Otto Schmidt, who was in the line-up, was the only one who did not. He was out in the first inning.

"Happy" Wilson wrenched his collar bone; Otto Schmidt was spiked in the knee and carried off the field; Pitcher Anderson for Milton lost 20 pounds and colliding with a base runner; Panning put his ankle out of place and was carried off the field.

Viney, Whitehead, Healy and Snyder did the heavy stick work for the Sox. Hoffman and Panning and Anderson starred for the visitors. Next Sunday, Milton will play the Collingwood Billiards of Janesville at the Billiards, Janesville is without a game.

Lake Leads Inter-County by Beating Jeffs 10 to 5

INTER-COUNTY LEAGUE. Lake Mills, W. L. Pet. 10 2 10 1. Jeffs, W. L. Pet. 5 3 10 1.

Jefferson—Lake Mills handed the locals a 10 to 5 defeat at the Lake place Sunday. It was Jefferson's first defeat of the season.

Lake Mills has now won all their games and leads the league. Lake pounded Kuchel and Klink for a total of 16 hits, including five two-bags and three triples, of which Kuchel had 10 runs, 10 hits and 10 RBIs.

A stiff wind blowing over the field throughout the game made it extremely difficult for the outfielders to judge fly balls, this accounting for the numerous long drives.

THIS district of Wisconsin is fortunate in having a game warden like the Hon. Gray of Milton, who believes that the laws on the statute books are there to be enforced despite what anyone says, and despite what feelings from the conservation commission, W. E. Hoyer, secretary of the local "fishers," reports that Warden Gray told him he will see that there is no fishing in his district in violation of the law that there shall be no game fishing from March 1 to June 1, both dates inclusive.

There has been fishing at Monterey dam and at Indian Ford and several other places. Gray has visited Monterey and given a warning. Purpose of the law was to protect spawning fish and to protect the water supply.

There IS Business for the Go-getters

The business man of today who believes that "things are dull" and that adverse conditions in the commercial world cannot be corrected to a profitable degree, had as well close his doors definitely for the elusive buying dollar will not call on the merchant or manufacturer who does not go after it. There is plenty of business for those who make the most of every opportunity to get it.

Constant effort on the part of every store owner, every sales manager and every advertising manager will produce business in good volume. As goes the old saying, "Constant dripping of water will wear away a stone," so it is that continuous sales effort overcomes the greatest of buying resistance.

The testimonial below well bears out the above facts. Worthy of special attention is the fact that this advertising was published the first of the week and that the results were immediately forthcoming, indicating that business may be obtained at anytime where efficient methods are used.

Think this over, Mr. Business Man, then phone 2500. Our ad men will be pleased to assist you in planning to obtain adequate returns for your advertising dollar.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN

May 12, 1924.

Gazette Printing Co.,
200-204 E. Milwaukee St.,
Janesville, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:

You will be pleased to learn of the response we have received from our advertising the first part of the week. We had noted your efforts to build business in this city and were more or less skeptical regarding the value of advertising carried early in the week but decided it was at least worth a fair trial.

In the issue of the Gazette Monday evening, May 5, we carried an advertisement two-thirds of a page in size. The following day told the tale and brought with it conviction that good business may be obtained the first part of the week as easily as the latter part. The response to our advertisement was tremendous. It was the largest day, in point of sales, we have enjoyed during the early part of any week and business continued to come in during the following several days which we are sure was derived from our original advertisement.

Good merchandise at reasonable prices coupled with an adequate amount of advertising and good service will produce business at any time.

You may rest assured of our continued use of your advertising columns as the medium through which we will place our message before the buyers of the Janesville trade territory.

Yours very truly,
BROCK'S.
